Description: R4 was a green and gold colored R4 astromech droid who served in the Resistance. During Black Squadron's mission to Megalox, R4 participaetd in Operation Upside, working with BB-8, O-R10N, and R2-HA in an attempt to free Grakkus the Hutt.

Biography

Mission to Megalox prison
R4, an astromech droid, served with the Resistance headquarter's droid pool on the planet D'Qar. In 32 ABY during the Cold War, it joined Black Squadron's mission to free Grakkus the Hutt from prison. After docking at the corporate-owned station, the pilots traveled planet-side. At Poe Dameron's command, BB-8, the squadron's droid leader, mobilized to deactivate the prison's gravity shield.

Operation Upside
R4 and R2-HA accessed a terminal. BB-8 spotted guards, so the droids hid using their boosters. Because R4 fell after a malfunction, O-R10N incapacitated the guards and righted R4.

The astromechs infiltrated the generator room on Deck Twelve and sliced the controls, when a security droid interrupted them. BB-8 and O-R10N attacked while R4 and R2-HA worked. The giant droid crushed O-R10N, but BB-8 disabled it, keeping their slicers in control. Black Squadron rescued Grakkus, regrouped, and departed aboard their X-wings. When First Order Agent Terex's ship attacked the station, they drove the Carrion Spike away. With information from the now-freed Grakkus, Black Squadron returned to D'Qar.

Personality and traits
The nerdy R4, a green-and-gold plated R4 astromech, featured rocket boosters, a black photoreceptor, and programming to operate computer systems.
