

Merr-Sonn SC-Firebat Combat PowerSuit

The Firebat variant of Merr-Sonn's SC-series combat armor turns a single person into a brutal killing machine. The main suit is quite similar to that of the Marine variant with the removal of the shoulder-mounted flood lights and the addition of a built on flamer unit.

The flamer unit is quite deadly and has an effective range of nearly ten meters.

The high combustion fuel is stored in tanks mounted on the back of the armor with projector units mounted on either forearm.

Like all the other SC-series armor suits the Firebat variant was designed to be used in nearly any enviroment and carries with it fifteen hours of atmosphere, a heating unit, a waste unit, a comlink as well as magnetic boots for working in the vacuum of space.
