*Natural Pilots: If a ZAFT mobile suit is ever piloted by a Natural human, all Difficulty Levels for piloting will be increased by one Level. If this roll is not made, the pilot will receive no bonus dice from Maneuverability or Fire Control of Weapons. Also, if a proper Operating System is not installed for natural pilots, then these bonuses will be -1D

---Ultracompact Energy Battery: in the Gundam SEED setting, ZAFT has dispersed many Neutron Jammers across Earth and uses them extensively in space. This means nuclear power and weapons systems are impossible to use and forces both sides to rely in various compact energy batteries to power their ships and mobile suits.

Because of this, when using any of these machines in the Gundam SEED setting, take the unit's Hull Dice number, multiply it by 100 (add 25 per pip), and this is the amount of power in the battery system (600 for standard GINNs).

When mobile suit/mobile armor launches, it begins depleting its battery by at least 1 per round. If it has energy weapons (i.e., beam sabers, beam rifles, etc.) or other advanced high-energy systems directly connected to its power supply (Phase Shift Armor, Mirage Colloid, etc.), then these will draw more power from the battery. Energy weapons draw power points equal to their Damage Dice. Equipment like Phase Shift Armor or Mirage Colloid draw power points equal to the mobile suit's Hull Dice. All of this is per round of activation.

DESCRIPTION:

ZAFT DINN (Pronounced "Din" or "Den")

In C.E. 70, ZAFT introduces its first aerial combat mobile suit, the AMF-101 DINN. In later years, ZAFT creates several reconnaissance variations, including the AME-WAC01 DINN Special Electronic Installation Type and AMF-103A DINN RAVEN. In addition to those two, ZAFT also produces the AMRF-101C AWACS DINN. The AWACS DINN replaces the chest missile launchers with searchlights. The back is equipped with a sensor radome, and the flight mode's "helmet" has been modified to include additional sensor equipment. As a reconnaissance unit, the AWACS DINN is armed only with machine gun and anti-aircraft shotgun used by the standard DINN. Several AWACS DINN units are used to locate the rogue battleship Archangel after ZAFT initiates Operation Angel Down.

*Natural Pilots: If a ZAFT mobile suit is ever piloted by a Natural human, all Difficulty Levels for piloting will be increased by one Level. If this roll is not made, the pilot will receive no bonus dice from Maneuverability or Fire Control of Weapons. Also, if a proper Operating System is not installed for natural pilots, then these bonuses will be -1D

WRITE-UP NOTES:

The ZAFT DINN is starfighter scale, like most mecha, because it is space and flight capable. I have chosen most of the dice codes for it based on its size (which is similar to a space transport in Star Wars D6, and lack energy shields), and the fact that it is an early model (other more improved models follow later with improved statistics, which is why the DINN may still seem comparatively weak in many ways). Unlike the ZAFT GINN, the DINN can actually fly in atmosphere, because that is what it was designed for.

The assault rifle is similar in stats to the GINN version, but better as it is used by the later improved CGUE models. The Shotgun I have written up to work somewhat like a real shotgun, with massive damage at very close ranges, but less damage as the shot gets further away, and in this way it also works somewhat like an anti-aircraft flak gun. The missile launchers have a standard warhead listed for damage (7D), but other missile types would be available since it says it is a multipurpose weapon. Such warheads may be Light Explosive (6D), Heavy Explosive (8D), Long Ranged (double the range), anti-radiation jamming (7D jamming against all sensors and fire controls, -1D per round), and even fire retardant and smoke.

If the AWACS DINN ever has its Radome or Head Flight Armor destroyed, it will lose the Sensor systems and related statistics and dice modifiers for those systems. If it loses both, it will have the Sensor abilities of an ordinary DINN or GINN. Since its Missile Launchers have been replaced by Searchlights, it receives +2D to search visually (Perception checks) at night or in dark or unlit environments. If these are destroyed (They have Hull 2D) then this bonus is lost.
