Description: The Dragon Bane is a custom designed Ugly Starfighter, using the wings, engine and laser cannons of an X-Wing fighter, and the hull of a TIE Advanced, along with the missile pods from a TIE Bomber. Although the resulting fighter is fairly fragile and slow, it is well armed, and can prove itself to be an extremely deadly opponent in starship combat. Dragon Banes have a high price due to their use of the TIE Advanced cockpit module and its powerful shield generator and other advanced features. These fighters are weak against Ion Weapons, but their shielding allows them to manage to be highly effective against opponents who are unaware of this weakness. Due to the limited availability of damaged TIE Advanced starfighters, the Dragon Bane is equally rare, however on the rare occasions that these fighters come onto the market they are usually snapped up quickly because of their known deadliness in combat.
