Description: Anzellans were a diminutive sentient species. The tiny beings often took up tech jobs such as the droidsmith Babu Frik. One also worked on a Solar Array 22-X station as a crewmember in the Hetzal system during the High Republic Era. The Anzellan engineer Shug Drabor designed the Halcyon during that same era. A crew of Anzellan droidsmiths operated on Nevarro during the time of the New Republic. Their size was comparable to infant members of other species. The eyes of Anzellans had floating corneal micro-lenses that could see microscopic details. Anzellans also had purple blood.
