Description: The Air Taxi was a common sight on Coruscant throughout the later years of the Republic and the entire Imperial Era. Flitting between the superscrapers ferrying people to and fro, they were an essential part of life, and the company that manufactured them, CorusMotors, managed to make a fair amount of business selling them to other high populated worlds such as Kuat, however with the destruction of Coruscant construction has now, obviously, ended, and other companies have rushed in to fill the gap. Air Taxi's can still be found on a number of worlds, but as they age, and replacement parts become more difficult to obtain then they will be retired and replaced. However at the moment these vehicles are still common, and still tend to merge into the crowd of very similar air speeders.
