Description: The Blade X Blaster from Civix Industries is a Heavy Blaster Pistol with a powerful punch but a disappointing range. However its hand carved greel-wood handle, integral laser sight (+1D to Blaster skill) and safety interlock system to stop misfires, has led to the weapon becoming mildly popular with the richer end of the market. And although this blaster has not been bought in bulk by any of the planetary or galactic governments, it has not been a complete sales failure and has even been widely publicised as the weapon of choice with several semi-famous bounty hunters.
