Description: The Blaster Gunboat is a heavily armed torpedo launching platform, capable of smashing small capital ships single handedly and performing many interdiction and defence roles. Although not an ideal anti starfighter vessel, the Gunboats overwhelming weaponry made it a success during the turbulent years of the Clone Wars. However when the Empire finally took control, the tight weapon restrictions they imposed made the Blaster illegal for non Imperial sales, and the Empire had exclusive contracts with Sienar and Kuat, forcing the design to be dropped. Although never reintroduced, the Blaster has continued to sell well on the second hand market, becoming popular with pirates as well as the emergent Rebel Alliance because of its pure power.
