Description: The Sirp Transport Vessel is an Old Republic cargo ship, designed to carry cargo across the galaxy, and although now qualified as a medium transport vessel, at its time was one of the larger ships of its type. Similar to the Mobquet Medium Transport, this design is still reliable and fairly common, trudging its way along the space lanes carrying large cargoes. Old, reliable and bland is what these vessels make most people who see them think, but it is this complete mundanity which makes them so popular with smugglers and other criminals.
