Description: The Yarian Blaster Rifle was designed and built for the security forces on the planet Devi, after the success of the Bajic Heavy Blaster Pistol. Like its smaller brother the Rifle is rugged and uses a trickle charge through the laser emitter to create a laser sight effect (+1D to skill). The same problems dogged the design as well with a shorter range than most Blaster Rifles, but this was easily counterbalanced by the larger energy clip size, and the slightly heavier damage. The design was picked up by both the Devi security forces, but also by a number of offworld security forces, allowing DeviAng Industries to continue their growth into a true interstellar corporation.
