Description: The "Guardian of the Tenoo Jedi Temple" was a tazi sloth that lived at the top of the Tenoo Jedi Temple. Soon after her arrival to Tenoo, Jedi Master Zia Zaldor Zanna discovered a written record of the creature, and found his nest. Later, on a rainy day in 232 BBY, Jedi Initiate Lys Solay found a holobook entitled Legends of the Jedi Temple on Tenoo in the Tenoo Temple Library. Loving creatures and seeking an adventure, the young Pantoran became transfixed by the hologram of the Guardian and got her friends Kai Brightstar and Nubs to join her in trying to find him. As the trio searched the massive Tenoo tree atop the temple, Solay fell through the roof of the Guardian's nest, where he was hibernating. When Brightstar and Nubs soon fell atop the creature, he awoke. Upset at his sleep being disturbed, he chased the interlopers through the canopy, swiping at them with his claws. When the Guardian got his tail caught on a snapped branch, the Jedi younglings used the Force to free him. They also fixed his roof. Now calmer, the Guardian returned to his long slumber.
