Creatures D6 / Squishy plant (Carnivorous Pl

Name: Squishy plant (jungle moon)
Found on: Unidentified jungle moon
Habitat: Jungle
Physical description: Creeper vines, Thick leaves

Dexterity: 0D
Perception: 1D
Strength: 4D

Special Abilities

Creeper Vine: The Squishy plant can sprout a number of vines and use them to restrain multiple targets, the vines can coil round a target holding them with the plants strength.

Thick leaves: The leaves of the Squishy Plant are covered with a tacky goo which holds a target once restrained by the Vines with a Strength of 6D.

Water Reliance: The Squishy Vine will usually only restrain targets when it is dry, attempting to use them as a source of water. If hydrated it will usually release it's targets, even it's goo becomes less sticky although still an annoyance.

Move: 0

Description: During the High Republic Era, the Jedi youngling Lys Solay, her pilot friend Nash Durango and Durango's droid RJ-83 encountered a squishy plant with thick leaves and creeper vines. The plant trapped Durango with its creepers and RJ-83 with one of its leaves until Solay watered its base, causing the plant to release its captives. Solay credited fellow Jedi youngling Nubs with teaching her about plants. Durango and Solay realized the plant was thirsty.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.