T-13 Uzi Repeater

The Repeater Uzi is not a very popular or widely known model. They are a very unique design, able to fire off a burst of five shots with a single pull of the trigger in such rapid succession that its almost like a continuous beam of energy. The burst usually hits all in the same spots because it fires off the rounds faster than most users can move it in an attempt to spray an area with fire. They are popular with gangsters and pirates and can be devastating in confined areas. Some elite military units have taken to using the T-13 for raids on enemy bases, ships, etc and have come out on the winning end most of the time.
