Planets D6 / Aiel

Aiel

Aiel is perhaps one of the most beautiful worlds in the entire sector but it has recently begun to be exploited for its resources by the Palvar Defense Force. Strategically, Aiel is a prime staging point for almost any military action that might be launched into Imperial space.

Aiel is only PDF member world to have been almost forced into joining. The Palvar Defense Force Navy deployed an entire squadron of capital combat starships to the system to show to the local Aiel government just how much their membership would mean to the PDF. Aarlis Nacirem, supreme commander of the PDF and CEO of Kashan Systems, was able to convince the local government that it would be in their best interest if they were to join.

As soon as Aiel did join into the Palvar Defense Force, Aarlis Nacirem ordered the construction of a massive stardock in orbit for fleet repairs as well as several training facilities and garrisons on the planet itself. It is also rumored that Nacirem had a pair of KDY v-150 planet defenders secretly installed as well as small planetary shield generator. Aiel serves as the second largest training facility for new PDF personnel, second only to Kashan itself.
