When Earth Force designed the PPG they had never expected it to excel in performance the way it did. Deciding to expand on the personal plasma weapon concept, Earth Force went to work designing a plasma rifle. The result was the Personal Plasma Rifle, or the PPR. The PPR was the second in the line of the PP-series and was dubbed the PPR. The rifle resembles a smaller version of the BlasTech A280, and with good reason, The PPR uses the same power clips as the PPG-1, using two of them at once. The clips are small and cylindrical shaped, fitting into a spot on top of the stock.
