Description: The Jakku Raider Speeder was a white-colored landspeeder built from scavenged parts that was used on the desert planet Jakku. The speeder drove past Niima Outpost on Jakku in the year 34 ABY.

The Jakku Raider Speeder was a landspeeder built from scavenged parts that was then customized to survive harsh desert terrains. It was white in color, with two steering vanes at the front, and the engines on either side of the rear. The driver's seat was located between the engines, next to a single passengers seat and beneath a corroded sunshield and rollbar.

In the year 34 ABY, the Jakku Raider Speeder drove past Niima Outpost on Jakku just as the scavenger Rey and the astromech droid BB-8 were arriving together. The outpost was attacked shortly afterwards by the First Order military faction, who were searching for BB-8.
