Equipment D6 / Droid commando personal sh

Name: Droid commando personal shield
Type: Personal energy shield
Scale: Character
Skill: Personal shields
Cost: Not for sale
Availability: 4
Game Notes: This shield provides 6D character scale protection against energy weapons. It has enough power to last 1 hour when activated.

Description: The commando droid personal shield was a hand-held energy shield used by BX-series droid commandos stationed at the Citadel. One was also seen in Pablo's Pawn shop on Nal Hutta.

Composed of a metal frame with an elongated hexagonal design, it was somewhat similar in appearance to the Confederate Roundel.

When activated, it allowed its user to extend a blaster through the energy shield, enabling the wielder to advance while firing and remain protected from opposing blaster fire. Although it could effectively block fire from blaster weapons, the shield offered no protection against physical matter such as rocks, branches, etc., nor could it protect against thermal detonator or grenade explosions. It was not determined if it could repel blaster cannon fire and/or starship weaponry.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.