Description: Tee-muss were a species of domesticated farm animals native to the jungle planet Onderon. They were located on various worlds around the galaxy-such as Balnab, Felucia, and Florrum-because of domestication purposes or to serve as mounts.

They had a short proboscis and two tusks on their lower jaw. Their ears were long and normally bent and pointed outward, when the tee-muss was attacked or threatened, they pointed downward.

Casiss's farming community used several as pack animals and mounts. The tee-muss laid down for the rider to mount. The farmers later rode tee-musses in a battle against Hondo Ohnaka's gang to defend their Nysillin crop from the Weequay pirate.
