Description: "Let the Wookiee win!" they said, "tear your arms out" they said. "Well" thought Foolius the Verpine Tech, what if we didn't let those hairy bulles win, "What if we used technology against them?", and so the Wookiee Buster AstroMech Armour was born.
Creating an armoured suit utilising a droid socket from a Starfighter, Foolius created a battle suit for any AstroMech. When inserted into the droid socket, the AstroMech connects to the Armours processors, which allow the AstroMech to control the body of the Armour as if it were it's own, adding combat senses and allowing it to dodge and utilise it's now massive strength in Combat for Brawling and Melee Combat, and providing tactical advice in combating Wookiees.

Foolius spent much of his fortune building the Wookiee-Buster AstroMech Armour, but his racism was known, and most sensible Wookiees avoided his presence anyway.

Happy April the 1st.
