Description: By 34 ABY, Gorr had lost his left forearm and was a leader of his own pirate gang. Eventually, they were approached by the First Order. They wanted his gang to attack the refueling station

Colossus for the them so its captain, Imanuel Doza, could give up power to the First Order for protection.[1] The First Order gave them equipment to do this, and they began running "Triple Dark" attacks on the Colossus.

This shuttle was among the equipment provided, an ex-imperial vessel which Kragan and his crew modified and "improved", removing much of the hull so they could add blades, weapons, extra shielding and improve it's atmospheric speed.
