

Lasaken

One of the races created by the ancient and mysterious Alpha Race. It is believed that, The Alpha Race existed somewhere around 8,000 years before Emporer Palpatine's rise to power. They were masters of genetic engineering and biological sciences. Rather than using droids to perform tasks, they designed organisms and even sentient beings to perform the tasks needed.

The Alpha Race engineered several known races then bred them together to get new races and seeded them across the galaxy to spawn hybrids and new races in an exponential propogation. The Alpha Race dissapeared without a trace from the galaxy.

The Lasaken were created to see how far the Alpha race could push mental capcity, during the earlier days of their work in creating sentient races. The Lasaken are physicaly inferior to many races including some humans. They have pinkish flesh loosely hanging on a somewhat weak skeletal structure. Their heads are bulbous in the back as they need a large brain cavity.

They are incredibly intelligent despite their less than beautiful appearance. They also have amazing powers of psychokinesis, that is telekinesis through the mind, not the force, as well as strong telepathic powers.
