Creatures D6 / Spotted Jugadoo

Name: Spotted Jugadoo
Type: Multicolored Elephantine Creatures

Dexterity: 2D+1
Perception: 1D+2
Strength: 5D

Special Abilities

None: Although large and fairly difficult to kill, the only remarkable thing about the Spotted Jugadoo was it's rarity, and therefore value to hunters. It was capable of doing some damage due to it's size and strength, but was not equipped for combat or hunting.

Move: 12 (running)
Size: 6m long
Orneriness: 1D

Description: The spotted jugadoo was a species of multicolored elephantine creatures native to the Dandelo system. In the early days of the Galactic Empire, a rare spotted jugadoo was hunted down by Starhunter's Intergalactic Menagerie, but was freed by C-3PO, R2-D2, and Jann Tosh. The mostly red creature mistook C-3PO for a potential mate when the protocol droid tried to mimic its vocalizations in a ruse to protect his friends.

Stats by FreddyB, descriptive text from WookieePedia
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.