Description: These lizard-like creatures were small skittish creatures that inhabited Arvala-7.

These creatures were small, about the size of a human foot. They were hairless, aside from a small piece on the back of the head. They had brown eyes and a snouth-like mouth. They had a scaly skin with several spines on its spine.

Around 9 ABY, a Mandalorian bounty hunter encountered several of them before being ambushed by Trandoshans, scurrying at the sight of the bounty hunter.
