Planets D6 / Drahgor III

Name: Drahgor III
Class: Terrestrial
Atmosphere: Breathable
Primary terrain: Mountain spire
Points of interest: Drahgor III fuel refinery
Fauna: Karnex dragon
Native species: Gozzo

Description: Drahgor III was a planet in the galaxy that was the homeworld of the Gozzo species. Due to its desolate surface, the only other lifeform that inhabited the planet were the Karnex dragons, which lived deep underground, and had been sealed away for so long that they were considered mythical. It was the homeworld of Flix, a male Gozzo who lived on the Colossus platform, where he co-ran the Office of Acquisitions. His flock ran a fuel refinery there.

Places of Interest

Drahgor III fuel refinery

This fuel refinery on the planet Drahgor III was run by a flock of Gozzo related to the Colossus resident Flix. It was the only fuelling station in the area, which mean the Colossus was forced to go there for fuel when it ran low during its flight from the First Order.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.