Planets D6 / Orondia

Name: Orondia
Atmosphere: Breathable
Points of interest: Bounty Emporium, Koe's, Meteor Cafe, Orondia Tours, The Pilot's Lounge

Description: Orondia was a desolate planet in the galaxy. During the Clone Wars, Obi-Wan Kenobi, disguised as Rako Hardeen, Cad Bane, and Moralo Eval were scammed into stopping there when a Bith gave him only enough fuel to reach Orondia, where his brother ran a fueling station.

Places of Interest

Orondia Filing Station
A filling station was located on the planet Orondia. Owned by a Bith, the station served as a fuel stop for starships during the Clone Wars.

The filling station was a large refueling structure on the Orondia plains, featuring several starship berths surrounding the central station.

Posing as the mercenary Rako Hardeen, Obi-Wan Kenobi purchased a ship from a Bith merchant in Bilbousa on Nal Hutta, in order to assist Cad Bane in escorting Moralo Eval. The merchant ensured the ship had only enough fuel to reach the filling station on Orondia owned by his brother. Upon arrival in their Luxury 3000 space yacht, Eval paid the station owner and made for departure, but the crew was spotted by Anakin Skywalker and Ahsoka Tano, who gave chase across the plains.

The Pilot's Lounge
The Pilot's Lounge was a destination for pilots in the galaxy. During the Clone Wars, the lounge featured a live band every night and advertised at a Bith-owned fueling station on the planet Orondia. Years later, during the reign of the Galactic Empire, The Pilot's Lounge advertised at Havoc Outpost, a shipping site, and Horizon Base, an Imperial outpost. Advertisements for The Pilot's Lounge were written in Aurebesh and featured illustrations of two Bith musicians and beverages.

Orondia Tours
Orondia Tours was a tourism company that was based on the planet Orondia at the time of the Clone Wars.

Meteor Cafe
Meteor Cafe was a restaurant on the planet Orondia at the time of the Clone Wars. The cafe's logo featured a meteor and the words "Meteor Cafe" in Aurebesh.

Koe's

Koe's was a restaurant on the planet Orondia at the time of the Clone Wars.

Bounty Emporium
Bounty Emporium was a store for bounty hunters active during the Clone Wars. It was established on the world of Orondia, as well as in Pons Ora, a settlement on Abafar.

Stats by FreddyB, descriptive text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.