Description: CH-33P, nicknamed "Cheep," was a C-series astromech droid that served the Galactic Republic during the Clone Wars. Following the Siege of Mandalore, CH-33P, along with fellow astromech droids R7-A7 and G-G, assisted the former Jedi Padawan Ahsoka Tano after Order 66 was executed and the Republic's clone troopers turned against the Jedi.

Biography
Cheep was stationed onboard a Venator-class Star Destroyer sent to Mandalore in the final days of the Clone Wars. Upon the Siege of Mandalore's conclusion following the capture of the renegade Sith Lord Maul and the defeat of his Death Watch forces, the 332nd Company returned to the Venator with Maul in custody and accompanied by former Jedi Padawan Ahsoka Tano. Soon after, the starship made the jump into hyperspace to return to Coruscant.

Following the execution of Order 66, Cheep, along with fellow astromech droids R7-A7 and G-G, agreed to assist Tano after she came looking for help upon evading execution by Clone Commander Rex and his men. The droid aided in her apprehension of Rex to remove his inhibitor chip by helping G-G cut him off from his men by trapping him in an intersection with blast doors, before R7-A7 shocked Rex unconscious after Tano revealed herself. Cheep, G-G and R7 then helped carry Rex to the medical bay.

Characteristics
Cheep was a C-series astromech droid with grey and yellow plating. Like all C-series droids, Cheep had three sensors and an antenna on its dome, two gripper arms, and a computer interface arm. Cheep was loyal, and volunteered to help Ahsoka Tano when she became a fugitive from the clone troopers after Order 66.
