Description: The G125 projectile launcher was a weapon used by First Order jet troopers in combat around 35 ABY.

Designed by the Sonn-Blas Corporation, the G125 was capable of firing a standard laser bolt from it's middle barrel or a more powerful explosive round from the two outside barrels. Although it was a seemingly small weapon, it packed a punch, and was notably effective against Resistance forces on Pasaana.

The G125 projectile launcher was designed by the Sonn-Blas Corporation and issued to First Order jet troopers around 35 ABY. It was deployed by two First Order jet troopers on Pasaana when Resistance operative Poe Dameron hotwired two local skimmers to escape First Order patrols on the planet. The G125's explosive rounds proved powerful enough to destroy the skimmers, although the two jet troopers were eventually shot down and killed, allowing Dameron and the rest of the Resistance forces to escape.
