Creatures D6 / Oggdo Bogdo (Carnivorous Pr

Name: Oggdo Bogdo
Skin color: Brown, with orange speckles
Eye color: Green
Distinctions: Lightsaber-resistant shell, Long, prehensile tongue, Three eyes
Homeworld: Bogano
Diet: Carnivorous

Dexterity: 3D+1
Perception: 2D+2
Strength: 5D

Special Abilities

Fangs and Horns: Oggdo have a selection of razor sharp weapons available to them, from their horned shells to their fangs. Each of these allow the cat to do Str+1D damage in combat.

Adhesive Tongue: Oggdo can make a grappling attack against an opponent up to 8 meters away, dragging them forward to their mouth to bite them.

Light Saber Resistant Shell: Oggdo have a shell which can resist damage, especially Lightsabers, (+1D vs Physical Damage, +2D vs Energy Damage, +4D vs Lightsaber Damage).

Move: 12
Size: 2.5 meters
Orneriness: 3D

Description: Oggdo Bogdo were a rare subspecies of the Oggdo species, a dangerous predator native to the Outer Rim planet Bogano. Highly aggressive and ferocious, the creature was larger and much deadlier than a common Oggdo with its lightsaber-resistant shell.

Biology and appearance
The Oggdo Bogdo had lightsaber-resistant shell, three eyes and a light orange prehensile tongue that could shoot out and grab prey, pulling them into their jaws.

Behavior
The Oggdo Bogdo were considered to be deadlier than their more common oggdo counterparts. While hunting down prey, they would constantly maneuver to inflict greater injuries at a closer range. The creatures' shell was highly resilient against lightsabers.

History
During the Jedi Padawan Cal Kestis' quest to rebuild the Jedi Order in the year 14 BBY, he encountered and killed an Oggdo Bogdo in the Bogdo Sinkholes on Bogano.

Stats by FreddyB, descriptive text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.