Races D6 / Er Kit

Name: Er Kit
Designation: Sentient
Average height: 1.63 meters
Skin color: Shades of blue
Eye color: Yellow
Distinctions: Elongated skulls, long skinny legs
Homeworld: Er'Kit
Attribute Dice: 12D

DEX: 2D+1/5D
KNO: 1D/3D
MEC: 2D/4D+1
PER: 2D/4D
STR: 2D/4D
TEC: 1D/3D

Story Factors:
Foolishness: Er'kit are foolish to the point of dangerousness. They must roll against Moderate willpower when trying to avoid doing something dangerous or foolish.

Move: 10/12

Description: The Er'Kit were a species of humanoids with large, elongated craniums and long, skinny legs. One Er'Kit was Ody Mandrell, a famous podracer who took part in the Boonta Eve Classic.

Biology and appearance
The Er'Kit were a sentient race of humanoids that originated from the planet Er'Kit in the Outer Rim Territories. Er'Kit possessed large, elongated craniums and long, skinny legs with skin that came in various shades of blue. Er'Kit were well adapted to desert planets due to the environments of their homeworld.

History
The Er'Kit homeworld had a murky history of political scandals, slave trade, and violent militias. Shortly before the Clone Wars, Danry Ledwellow was an Er'Kit male senator who represented the planet Er'Kit in the Galactic Senate. After a complication with Thalassian slavers, Ledwellow was arrested, and his private army of IG-227 Hailfire-class droid tanks fell into the hands of the Blood Dawn slavers.

Er'Kit in the galaxy
Some Er'Kit hailed from the planet of Tatooine, located in the Outer Rim Territories.

Ody Mandrell was a famous podracer renowned for his team of pit droids that helped him to break several records. During the Naboo Crisis, Mandrell took part in the Boonta Eve Classic.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.