

Races D6 / Lannik

Name: Lannik
Designation: Sentient
Average height: 1.2 meters
Skin color: Blue, Orange, Purple, Red
Hair color: Matched skin color
Eye color: Matched skin color
Homeworld: Lannik
Language: Lannik
Attribute Dice: 12D

DEX: 2D/4D+2
KNO: 1D/3D+2
MEC: 1D+2/4D+1
PER: 1D/3D+1
STR: 1D+1/4D
TEC: 1D+1/4D

Special Abilities:

Fearless: Lannik are not easily frightened. They get a +2 pip bonus to Willpower rolls when resisting Intimidation skill rolls against them.

Move: 6/8

Description: Lannik were short, bipedal humanoids with droopy, long ears and orange to reddish to purple and bluish tones to their skin. Their homeworld was Lannik.

Society

The Lannik were known for their bellicose society, and were seen to be fearless and sometimes hotheaded and arrogant. More often than not, Lannik kept clear heads in combat, and could deduce a solution to many dangerous situations. The Lannik were governed by the Lannik High Court.

The Lannik homeworld was first discovered by a group of Human and Duros explorers, who brought high technology to Lannik. The natives' exposure to this technology split Lannik society into factions, each with its own thoughts on how to integrate that technology into their society. Conflicts raged on Lannik, forcing the intervention of several criminal groups, and finally, the Galactic Republic itself, which restricted the amount of technology exported to the planet. This did not go as planned, serving only to increase the amount of technology on Lannik, and also entrenched crime syndicates on the planet. This led to the rise of the terrorist group known as the Red Iaro.

During the Separatist Crisis, Spotts TradeChip Company mislabeled Jedi Master Yoda as a Lannik in its controversial Jedi TradeChips series.

By the time of the Galactic Empire, Lannik were rarely seen offworld.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.

Image copyright LucasArts.

Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.