SPECIAL ABILITIES

Bond Twin: Kotabi Bond Twins share a mind between them, this allows them to read each others minds at close range (less than 500m), leading to them often completing each others sentences. But at longer ranges they can still feel each others emotions. This link means that any mind control powers used on one, will effect both, but also means that force sensitive Kotabi Bond

Twins can aid one another by using their powers on themselves and effecting both (enhance attribute for example). This link also adds +1D to all Willpower tests.

Description: Terec was a trans non-binary Kotabi Jedi Knight and the bond-twin of Ceret. Both twins were stationed at the Starlight Beacon space station during the High Republic Era. Their bond meant Ceret and Terec shared the same gestalt mind, frequently finishing each others' sentences even when not in the same room.[2]

Terec and Ceret joined Jedi Master Sskeer and Jedi Knight Keeve Trennis in traveling to the Kazlin system after Starlight received a scrambled distress signal from the system. Docking the T-1 shuttle with the wreckage of a ship, they began to search for survivors, donning rebreathers upon encountering gas that implied the Nihil had attacked the ship. Terec joined Master Sskeer as the group split up, Trennis and Ceret going towards the flight deck as Terec and Sskeer continued to search the ship. They were soon attacked by a lone Nihil marauder, who injured Terec before being killed by Sskeer.[2]

Terec was patched up by Trennis and waited for Jedi Master Avar Kriss, who was the Marshal of Starlight Beacon, and Jedi Knight Vernestra Rwoh to arrive at the Hutt ship as Sskeer and Ceret went to Sedri Minor to investigate the source of the grain. There, Terec collapsed as they felt Ceret's pain. As Terec was supported by Rwoh, Kriss contacted Sskeer to learn what had happened.
