

Starships D20 / Admiral Corvette

Admiral Corvette

For many years the old Corellian Gunship was the Empire's main weapon against starfighter attacks and also a favorite of the Rebels. But its age has begun to show in the arena of modern space warfare. To replace the old Correllian Gunships the Empire has begun producing the Admiral-class Corvette. Its speed and weapons are unmatched for its size and class but it is not very effective against other capital ships, but it is against fightercraft that it is the most lethal. These ships will serve as escorts for larger slower vessels to keep starfighter attacks from distracting them from engaging the larger enemy vessels.
