Biography
DV-692 was a Human male clone who served the Galactic Empire as a lower officer in the Stormtrooper Corps during the Galactic Civil War. He was a member of the elite stormtrooper legion known as the 501st, and he was assigned to lead a squad of the legion. In 0 BBY, DV-692 was stationed aboard the Imperial I-class Star Destroyer Devastator, commanded by the Dark Lord of the Sith Darth Vader.

That year, Rebel agents transmitted the stolen plans of the first Death Star, a new Imperial superweapon, to the Rebel CR90 corvette Tantive IV. Over the planet Tatooine, the Devastator pursued and captured the Tantive IV, which was the consular ship of Senator Leia Organa of Alderaan. Led by an assault commander, DV-692 and his squad boarded the Tantive IV in the first wave of stormtroopers. After the Imperial troopers cleared out the initial Rebel resistance, Vader came aboard the ship and ordered the stormtroopers to search for the passengers of the Tantive IV and capture them alive.

DV-692 split the troopers of his squad into two groups; he ordered half of them to search a passageway and secure a junction, and led the rest to another corridor. The squad's orders were to search the passageways astern and forward. One of DV-692's squadmates spotted Organa hiding in a small alcove and alerted DV-692 of her presence; however, Organa outdrew DV-692's squadmate and shot him dead. Organa tried to escape, but DV-692 stunned her with his E-11 blaster rifle. The squad escorted Organa to Vader, who ordered them to take the prisoner to the Devastator's holding facility.

Equipment
DV-692 wore full stormtrooper armor without rank insignia, and he sported a standard E-11 stormtrooper blaster rifle during the battle aboard the Tantive IV.
