Description: Sardis Ramsin, designated TD-7556, was a human male who served in the sandtrooper division of the Stormtrooper Corps, in the Galactic Empire's army. At some point, he was on Weigh Station Karambola, where he received a beating from a group of Rodians led by Bludlow after posing as a bounty hunter. Around 0 BBY, he was stationed at Mos Eisley, Tatooine, as part of Commander TD-110's Foot Patrol 7. After an incident involving the escape of a freighter carrying droids wanted by the Empire, Ramsin, who had harbored a desire to ride dewbacks and hated his job and comrades, deserted and sent a sarcastically-worded incident report back as his final communication to his former superiors.
