Planets D6 / Morlana One

Name: Morlana One
Sector: Free Trade sector
System: Morlani system
Moons: At least 1
Atmosphere: Breathable
Points of interest: Corporate Security Headquarters, Leisure Zone
Immigrated species: Humans

Description: Morlana One was a planet with large expanses of water that was governed by Preox-Morlana during the Imperial Era. Syril Karn served as the Deputy Inspector for the authority on the planet.

The thief Cassian Andor traveled to a brothel in the Leisure Zone on the planet to find information about his sister. During the mission, Andor killed two Corpos on the planet before fleeing back to Ferrix.

Places of Interest
Corporate Security Headquarters
The Corporate Security Headquarters were the headquarters of Preox-Morlana and its Security branch on the planet Morlana One.

Composition
The Corporate Security Headquarters was a multi-building complex on the Morlana One seaside which functioned as the headquarters and command center of the Pre-Mor Enforcement, the Preox-Morlana security branch. It was surrounded by a tall fence with observation towers and comprised of multiple glass rhombohedrons connected with each other via skybridges. On the yard surrounding the towers were paths leading from one building to another and underground passages leading to deeper sublevels.

Features
Inside the main building there was the Pre-Mor Enforcement Command center, a room filled with computers and holoscreens used to monitor the entirety of the Preox-Morlana sector. A team of analysts worked there in shifts and were responsible for collecting the day's information to deliver it to superior officers. They could also put out bulletins issued in the name of the Pre-Mor enforcement, requiring information about criminal activities from the citizens.

Pre-Mor security officers also maintained offices in the same building. These included the Chief Inspector's Office which was used for high level meetings and interviews as well as a number of offices for junior officers such as Deputy Inspectors.

Leisure Zone
The Leisure Zone was an area on the planet Morlana One that included brothels. It was under the jurisdiction of the Preox-Morlana. In 5 BBY, Cassian Andor visited a brothel in the Leisure Zone in search of his sister, whom he had been separated from at a young age. He later killed two Corpos in the area and when they were discovered, Chief Inspector Hyne ordered Syril Karn to create an alibi for the situation, instructing him to come up with a story that saw the two men die innocuously and outside of the area.

Leisure Zone brothel
An expensive brothel was located in the Leisure Zone on the planet Morlana One. It had a holographic go-go dancer and a bar. Around the bar, there were booths set into the wall. An adjoining room was separated from the main lounge by a beaded curtain.

In 5 BBY, Cassian Jeron Andor, Verlo Skiff and Kravas Drezzer drank there. A woman from Kenari worked there, but several months before Andor visited, she left. At the time of Andor's visit, there was a woman from Tahina who worked there as a hostess.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.