Description: A human female worked as a lab tech on the planet Plazir-15's morgue in 9 ABY. During that time, a surge of droid malfunctions troubled the peaceful city and Lord Bombardier requested the intervention of Mandalorians Din Djarin and Bo-Katan Kryze who correctly identified the next droid unit to malfunction and managed to destroy it. After bringing it to the morgue, the lab tech helped them collect Nepenthé from its systems, as they suspected a spiked batch of the drink to be responsible for the malfunctions. The tech confirmed their suspicions by analyzing the sample and discovering that it was laced with nano-droids, but before they could act on their find the tech's IT-O Interrogator unit was infected with the droids due to its brief exposure and attacked them. Djarin used the darksaber to destroy the unit which was attacking the lab tech and Kryze, and the tech subsequently analyzed the droids and discovered that they had been purchased and used by the security commissioner, Helgait.
