Races D6 / Noti

Name: Noti
Designation: Sentient
Average height: Shorter than 1.7 meters
Skin color: Blue
Distinctions: Eyestalks, Rock-like shells
Homeworld: Peridea
Language: Noti language
Attribute Dice: 12D

Dex: 2D/4D+1
Know: 2D/4D+1
Mech: 1D/3D+2
Perc: 3D/5D+1
Str: 1D/3D
Tech: 2D/3D+1

Special Abilities:

Rock-like shells: Noti have a rock like shell on their back which they can retract their bodies into for protection or concealment. When retracted into their shell, they gain +2D to resist all damage, unless they are turned over, of which there is 50% in an explosion. This also allows them to hide in rocky areas, giving them a bonus +2D to their sneak and hide in this environment.

Eyestalks: Noti eyes are located on the ends of short stalks, allowing them to peek out from their shells without exposing their bodies, and also giving them a good range of visual perception.

Story Factors:

Extragalactic: As a species from outside the galaxy, Noti are extremely rare and may not be knowledgable about technology or customs of the mainsteam galactic culture.

Move: 8/10

Description: The Noti were an extragalactic sentient species native to the planet Peridea. Shorter than 1.7 meters in height, the Noti had blue carapaces and eyestalks. They were capable of retracting their bodies into large, rock-like shells on their backs which allowed them to hide from threats. After the Jedi Padawan Ezra Bridger was self-exiled out of the galaxy, he became stranded on Peridea, where he assimilated into a nomadic village of Noti. One member of the species was encountered by Mandalorian Sabine Wren during the search for Ezra, and—alongside several other Noti hiding nearby—led Wren to their village and, in turn, Bridger.

---

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.