Description: Pod-shaped homes were the tan-colored mobile homes of the Noti people on Peridea. Besides providing accomodation, they also acted as transportation that allowed the Noti to travel the plains of Peridea. They had anti-gravity generators that allowed them to move slowly. A hatch atop the homes could close to protect the driver. The homes also had a door at the back for entering and exiting, as well as a window that could be lifted open.
The Jedi Ezra Bridger, who lived with the Noti during his self-exile on Peridea, had a much larger pod-shaped home to account for his greater size in comparison to the Noti.
