Special Abilities:

Eyes of Ibad: This is a sign of total addiction to the melange spice, and dominates the eyes of the addicted with an inky bluish taint, covering iris, pupil, and the whites of the eye.

Knifefighting: Fremen are very skilled in using crysknives and are renowned for their incredible abilities with them. Any Fremen is trained to the highest standards of knifefighting, surpassed only by the greatest blademasters, and their trainees, usually sons of Great Houses.

Wierding Way: The Fremen method of unarmed combat, the Fremen allegedly learned it from a Bene Gesserit who taught it to them in return for her life. It enhances their Brawling and Brawling Parry scores by +1D.

Sandworm Riding: The Fremen, when actually on Arrakis, harness the power of the most destructive beast on it for their transport. They can ride these worms for approximately 450 miles before the beast stops due to exhaustion.

Cielago: The word from the old Chakobsa hunting language means "bat". When used in context, it refers to a uniquely Arrakeen method of communication--the ability to impress a message into the small flying mammal for repetition upon arrival. It is otherwise referred to as a "distrans" message.

Equipment: Stillsuit, Fremkit [inflatable tent, paracompass, macrobinoculars, map of Arrakis, maker hooks, and two thumpers], Crysknife [STR+3 for non-Fremen, STR+4 for Fremen], and jabba cloak [+2 to sneak for non-Fremen, +4 to sneak for Fremen].
