Characters D6 / RA-7-81 (Imperial Logistics D

Name: RA-7-81
Date destroyed: c. 18 BBY, Weyland
Manufacturer: Arakyd Industries
Model: RA-7 protocol droid
Class: Protocol droid
Height: 1.68 meters
Pronouns: It/its
Sensor color: Black
Plating color: Gray
Affiliation: Galactic Empire

Dexterity: 1D
Knowledge: 1D
    Bureaucracy 5D, Languages 4D, Survival 4D
Mechanical: 1D
    Repulsorlift Operation 3D
Perception: 1D
    Search 5D, Lipreading 5D
Strength: 1D
    Lifting 2D
Technical: 1D
    Communications 4D

Equipped with:
    Humanoid Body (two arms, two legs, head)
    Two visual sensors - Infra Red, and Binocular vision
    Two Audio Sensors - wide frequency monitoring systems
    Vocabulator speach/ sound system
    G45 Compubrain

Move: 8

Description: RA-7-81 was an RA-7 protocol droid who was stationed on board one of the Galactic Empire's science vessels. After the vessel journeyed from Imperial Station 003 above the planet Coruscant to Tantiss Base on the planet Weyland, RA-7-81 discovered the stowaway clone Echo in the vessel's cargo hold disguised as a TK stormtrooper. When the protocol droid was not convinced by Echo's claim that he had been checking the manifest, the clone shot and destroyed the droid, taking its hand to hid his cybernetic scomp link.

Biography
RA-7-81 was a RA-7 protocol droid manufactured by Arakyd Industries that served the Galactic Empire. Around 18 BBY, it was stationed on board a science vessel commanded by Lieutenant Novitz that was travelling from Imperial Station 003 in orbit of the planet Coruscant to Tantiss Base, a secret Imperial facility on the planet Weyland. Unbeknownst to the vessel's crew, the clone cyborg Echo had snuck on board at the orbital station and was hiding in the vessel's cargo hold, an area over which RA-7-81 held jurisdiction.

While the ship traveled through hyperspace, Echo looked at the vessel's manifest on a viewscreen until he heard the sound of RA-7-81's footsteps approaching. The clone then hid as the droid entered the cargo hold and checked the same screen Echo had been looking at. After the science vessel reached Weyland, Echo was once again alone in the cargo hold and disguised himself as a TK stormtrooper. The vessel then landed at Tantiss Base and was boarded by TK stormtroopers searching for any stowaways.

Passing some of the searching troopers in a corridor, RA-7-81 returned to the cargo hold. Hearing the droid approach, Echo began to leave but was spotted by RA-7-81, who called out for him to stop and stated that he lacked authorization to be in the hold. Echo claimed to have been checking the manifest, but when RA-7-81 was unconvinced, the clone shot the droid in the chest with his blaster, destroying it. Echo then took the droid's right hand in order to hide the cybernetic scomp link he had in place of his own hand and escaped the vessel.

Characteristics
RA-7-81 had gray plating and black sensors. It stood 1.68 meters tall.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.