The Razorbacks - Swoop Gang

Submitted to database by: Lieutenant Bronskid, Chronum Police Department

Gang Information

Area of Influence: Lower West Side of Chronum

Wanted For: Multiple counts of larceny, arson, destruction of private and public property, murder, racketeering, illegal possession of military grade weapons, assault

Numbers(Estimated): 53(figure does not include any mechanics or medics bullied into service)

Demographics: All male, about 75% human, with some Rodians and Twi'leks; range from ages 20-35

Motivation: Money

Bounty offered: 200 per gang member; 500 for underbosses; 10,000 for leader

Basic Information:

This gang is responsible for multiple crimes throughout the lower western portion of Chronum; they seem intent upon controlling a large city area without the influence of government forces. The areas that they maintain a strong influence(without government interference) within are virtually ghost towns; few, if any, people live there, due to the tendencies of the Razorbacks to plunder any homes and local businesses at whim. They spread their influence by beginning subtly; first they merely threaten citizens into giving up money, and use harassment tactics against police forces, until they finally begin to coordinate destruction of major police installations and drive out government influence completely. Their prime motivation seems to be money and power; they enjoy bullying others, and prospering as a result. The creation of 'dead zones' within the city sections, in which very few people live and most of the property is destroyed, severely hampers both the economy and well-being of the city.

Initiation: New members are brought into the swoop gang through a rigorous month of trials. Quite often they are beaten by large groups of gang members in order to prove how 'tough' they really are. Regardless of the hazing, each new member is required to committ either large scale vandalism, or murder of rival gang members or police officers. Upon becoming a member, each initiate is given a pair of padded gloves with small blades at the knuckles, as well as a jacket with their logo on it: a long python, with sharp spikes coming from its back.

Recommended Actions To Be Taken: Large-scale, coordinated military intervention

Razorbacks Leader: Styve Krage

Styve, despite his reputation for being ruthless and bloodthirsty in combat, has been the cause of many broken hearts among the female teenager population of Chronum due to his good looks; he is tall and muscular, with flowing black hair and emerald green eyes. He is clad in dark purple and black armor, covered mostly by a black cape with gold trim. He appears to be in his late twenties, having inherited leadership of the Razorbacks from its deceased former leader(his older brother, Xrez) several years ago. His faces is nicked with small scars from long past battles, and his eyes are full of anger and determination. His past is unknown, and his deeds are mired in rumor and urban legend.
