Description: Tragor Station, also known as Shingcu Station, was a space station within the atmosphere of the gas giant Chenley Prime that served as a base of operations for Baron Boolan, the Minister of Advancement of the Nihil marauders. Aboard the station, Boolan and his assistant, Reek, performed experiments on Nameless as well as kidnapped Force-sensitive children whom the baron wanted to turn into his Children of the Storm. The station shared its name with Tragor, Boolan's late father.
