Races D6 / Namara

Name: Namara
Designation: Sentient
Skin color: Orange, Red, Green, Blue
Eye color: Black
Distinctions: Horns
Attribute Dice: 12D

Dex: 2D/4D
Know: 2D/4D
Mech: 2D/4D
Perc: 2D/3D+2
Str: 2D/4D+1
Tech: 2D/4D

Special Abilities:

Desert Dwellers: Namara come from a world which is a mainly desert environment, so they survive on less water than humans and gain a +1D to their Survival skill in deserts.

Story Factors:

Horns: Namara have a pair of short horns, these are not useful in combat, but Namara remain proud of them and take care of them.

Move: 10/12

Description: The Namara were a sentient species that existed in the galaxy. Silvasu Fi, Wini Eres, and Xonr were all notable members of this species.

Biology and appearance

The Namara were a sentient species distinguished by their black eyes and downward-turning horns that extended from the sides of their heads.

In the galaxy

During the Imperial Era, Silvasu Fi, a member of the species, served the Cloud-Riders as they stole supplies from the Empire and Crimson Dawn in an effort to fuel a rebellion. Another Namara, the bounty hunter Xonr, worked for the Bounty Hunters' Guild and tracked down the rogue hunter Beilert Valance in an attempt to eliminate him, but was killed by the cyborg on Coruscant.

During the New Republic era in 9 ABY, a member of the species was present on Nevarro, walking by the Mandalorian bounty hunter Din Djarin and later chatting with a fellow human. When Din Djarin and Grogu were searching for Jedi to reunite the Child with its kind, a Namara could be seen amongst an audience watching a pair of Gamorreans fight.

Around 34 ABY, at least two female Namaras were present on Canto Bight during Rose Tico and Finn's search for the Master Codebreaker. One walked by Dobbu Scay and the astromech droid BB-8 as the former attempted to use the droid as a slot machine.

Stats by FreddyB, Descriptive Text from WookieePedia.
Image copyright LucasArts.
Any complaints, writs for copyright abuse, etc should be addressed to the Webmaster FreddyB.