Description: Leeza was a human female who resided on planet Ghorman during the Imperial Era. Leeza worked for the Imperial Bureau of Standards' field office in the capital city Palmo, but was also a member of the Ghorman Front. Leeza was killed during the Ghorman Massacre.

Biography
In 3 BBY, Leeza worked on ghorlectipod-related inventories and audits at the Imperial Bureau of Standards field office in Palmo, the capital city of Ghorman. Leeza was also a member of the Ghorman Front, a local rebel cell. When an Imperial Security Bureau sweep was conducted at the office by Attendant Grymish, Leeza was able to signal members of the Front to deactivate a listening device that the group had installed in the Division Chief's, office. While the sweep was conducted Leeza and the rest of the employees were directed to leave the office. Following the sweep, they were in the office when Syril Karn, the Division Chief, returned and told the group that the techs had found the listening office and each employee would be given ISB interview before expressing anger over the action by kicking a piece of electronics.

Leeza was present during a meeting of the Ghorman Front when Vel Sartha and Cinta Kaz, two members of another rebel group, advised the group on how to accomplish a heist of Imperial weapons from an Imperial transport carrier. During the meeting, Leeza supplied information about the neighborhood where the group was planning to disable the transport carrier. Leeza, however, did not participate in the heist itself.

A year later, Leeza was among the numerous victims of the Ghorman Massacre.

Personality and traits
Leeza was a human female with light skin, brown eyes, and brown hair.

Equipment
While working at the Bureau of Standards field office, Leeza wore a brown vest over a white shirt. Within reach of their workstation at the office, Leeza had a button that warned the Ghorman Front to deactivate the listening device placed in Syril Karn's office.
