Special Abilities:

Invisibility: Segredo have the ability to manipulate the minds of others in order to appear invisible. This only works on living beings, and doesn't work on droids (but can work on living beings using sensors, as their minds simply refuse to accept the sensor results). In play, the Segredo make a Willpower roll against the Control or Willpower of those perceiving it, and if successful then cannot be perceived through any means by that being (later recordings will show reality however). This power can shroud other beings in contact with the Segredo.

Story Factors:

Shelter: Due to their ability to become invisible to other sentient creatures and their own compassion, Segredo tend to protect other beings in need, using their ability to hide them, but also to take them into their homes in times of need.

Description: Drewen Qweebjillan was a Force-sensitive Segredo male who resided during the High Republic Era. While at Kul Kenada Spaceport on the Outer Rim astronomical object Blarrum, Drewen overheard about the monster hunter Ty Yorrick, who had been hired to capture an escaped gundark. Drewen ventured out into the forest to watch Yorrick in action, surprising the hunter as she fought the beast. Despite almost being attacked by the gundark before being saved by Yorrick, Drewen did not mind, amazed by her skill. Yorrick scolded the Segredo for putting himself at risk, leaving on her speeder, but Drewen followed her back to her starship at the spaceport.

Biography

The Segredo male Drewen Qweebjillan lived during the time of the High Republic Era. Between 232 BBY and 231 BBY, Drewen was present at the Kul Kenada Spaceport on Blarrum, an astronomical object in the Outer Rim Territories. While at the spaceport, he heard about the saber-for-hire and monster hunter Ty Yorrick, who had been hired by the beast-trader Triv Blago to capture an escaped prize gundark. Hearing of Yorrick's skill, the Segredo wished to see her in action, following her out into the forest. As Drewen watched Yorrick attempt to wrangle the gundark, the monster hunter was thrown to the ground in front of him. Surprised, Drewen greeted Yorrick, who in turn questioned who he was.

With the gundark approaching, however, Yorrick disregarded her question, instructing Drewen to avoid being caught by the creature. The Segredo ran from the gundark, screaming as the beast pursued him. With Drewen in danger, Yorrick—a former Jedi—brought out her lightsaber, cutting off the gundark's head and killing the creature as it closed in on the Segredo. Drewen thanked Yorrick for saving his life, in awe at both her skill and her lightsaber. When Yorrick asked him why he had been there, Drewen told her that he had wanted to watch her at work. Yorrick scolded the Segredo for putting himself at risk as she left on her speeder, but Drewen did not mind, believing his near-death experience was worth it to see Yorrick's skills.

After Yorrick returned to Kul Kenada Spaceport, Drewen followed her. When the monster hunter arrived back at her starship after a brief altercation with Blago, Drewen was hiding behind a stack of crates near the entry ramp. Yorrick subsequently departed aboard her starship, heading for a new job on Loreth.

Personality and traits

Drewen was a Segredo male who was referred to by Yorrick as a "kid." He possessed purple hair and fur, light gray skin, and blue eyes. The Segredo stood at a height of 1.57 meters (5 feet 2 inches) tall. Drewen was willing to put his life at risk to watch Yorrick capture a gundark, unconcerned by the danger and not minding that the creature nearly killed him. After being saved by Yorrick, Drewen was amazed at her abilities and the use of her lightsaber.

Powers and abilities

Aside from his latent Force sensitivity Drewen was trained in the use of blasters and possessed some knowledge of close quarters combat. He was capable of piloting starships and like all Segredo he could make himself invisible with a mind trick.

Equipment

Drewen wore a light tan shirt with a wide black collar and a plate on the left shoulder, as well as brown pants and a dark gray belt.
