Description:Leox Gyasi was a human male pilot who worked for the Byne Guild during the High Republic Era. He flew the starship Vessel, assisted by his co-pilot Affie Hollow and navigator Geode. The crew of the Vessel were tasked with transporting four Jedi to the Starlight Beacon, but the ship was forced to exit hyperspace due to debris from the Great Hyperspace Disaster.

Gyasi was very fond of Hollow, who he affectionately called "Little Bit." He was compassionate and was able to tell when others needed someone to talk to or just wanted to be left alone. Despite these characteristics, Gyasi could also be deceptive, smuggling medicinal spice that he insisted was not illegal as well as allowing the Jedi to pay him for their return trip to the Amaxine space station despite the fact that Gyasi and Hollow were already planning to travel there independent of the Jedi's wishes.

Gyasi identified as asexual, having no interest in sexual activities. He was likewise uninterested in romantic encounters and did not experience desire for other beings.
